Leveled Books (K-8) Feb 13 2022 For ten years and in two classic books, Irene Fountas and Gay

Su Pinnell have described how to analyze the characteristics of texts and select just-right books to use for guided reading instruction. Now, for the first time, all of their thinking and research has been updated and brought together into Leveled Books, K-8 to form the ultimate guide to choosing and using books from kindergarten through middle school. Fountas and Pinnell take you through every aspect of leveled books, describing how to select and use them for different purposes in your literacy program and offering prototype descriptions of fiction and nonfiction books at each level. They share advice on: the role of leveled books in reading instruction, analyzing the characteristics of fiction and nonfiction texts, using benchmark books to assess instructional levels for guided reading, selecting books for both guided and independent reading, organizing high-quality classroom libraries, acquiring books and writing proposals to fund classroom-library purchases, creating a school book room. In addition, Fountas and Pinnell explain the leveling process in detail so that you can tentatively level any appropriate book that you want to use in your instruction. Best of all, Leveled Books, K-8 is one half of a new duo of resources that will change how you look at leveled books. Holes Mar 22 2020 Stanley Yelnat's family has a history of bad luck going back generations, so he is not too surprised when a miscarriage of justice sends him to Camp Green Lake Juvenile Detention Centre. Nor is he very surprised when he is told that his daily labour at the camp is to dig a hole, five foot wide by five foot deep, and report anything that he finds in that hole. The warden claims that it is character building, but this is a lie and Stanley must dig up the truth. In this wonderfully inventive, compelling novel that is both serious and funny, Louis Sachar has created a masterpiece that will leave all readers amazed and delighted by the author's narrative flair and brilliantly handled plot.

Take Charge of Your Teaching Evaluation Dec 19 2019 "Evaluations can be seen as someone else's judgment. Or they can be seen as a way for us to show what we can do and how amazing our students are." -Jennifer Ansbach This year's evaluation can be different Evaluation can be scary, unproductive, and even unfair. But this year it doesn't have to be. Not if you let Jennifer Ansbach help you take charge of the story of your practice, make the most of the process, and keep the focus on student learning. Documenting your practice and professional learning to improve your evaluation Take Charge of Your Teacher Evaluation, isn't about gaming your evaluation. Instead, Jen shows how to build a Professional Development Journal piece-by-piece-one that aligns to your evaluation system, boosts your professional growth, deepens student learning, and actually makes your evaluation a productive two-way conversation. You'll be prepared at any time to clearly present unmistakable evidence of your work and your students' growth. Best of all, Jen brings it back to the kids, always suggesting ways to connect professional learning to the young people in front of you. A blueprint for growth and success With examples from Jen's own journal and helpful downloadable forms, you'll create a living document that helps you: reflect on areas for professional growth map growth paths directly onto your evaluation rubric plan lessons that help you and your students grow document student work collaborate effectively with observers in a pre- or post-observation meeting. A more meaningful evaluation "Just as we encourage students to use assessments to showcase their learning," writes Jen Ansbach, "our evaluations can be a way to reflect on our practice and showcase our growth." This year, be ready for any observation, even unannounced ones, and bring meaning and value to your evaluation with Take Charge of Your Teacher Evaluation.
